Vault Clothing

It is our belief that image is worn like modern day armour, fending off those who cannot identify with us, those who dare not venture across the divide.

Our image and the clothing we choose, encases our over-scrutinized bodies, allowing us to take on the attitude and confidence exuded by our garments.

Vault clothing is designed to enhance this feeling. Each garment begins with a shell, a structural, protective field, allowing the wearer to feel strong and secure.

Then it is worked inward, paying attention to every aspect of how the garment feels; the cut, the fabrics, linings and details are intricately explored to create a garment that infuses the wearer with inner and outer confidence.

Vault Clothing was created by British designer Laura A Jones to provide beautifully cut, stylish menswear to an increasing number of professional men, for whom the conventional suit has become an outdated uniform of the past.

Where unique style and originality has taken its place as a currency to measure success. Vault values innovation over conformity and quality and timeless style over the disposable nature of mass-produced high street fashion.

The label creates a fusion of contemporary design and fabric use, with traditional structural values and tailoring methods, unifying contemporary and classic style. Laura's experience of designing garments that are fit for purpose such as the Virgin Galactic space suits and costumes for Batman Begins and Tomb Raider 2, mean she is able to make and design garments that combine functionality with a unique sense of style and attitude.
